RHI Entertainment has a unique and differentiated approach to the content production and distribution business:

- Proven production model that mitigates risk by offering low-cost, high-quality programming with pre-delivery contracted sales covering the large majority of production costs
- Diversified content catalog that better serves the growing range of distribution platforms
- Growing addressable market with opportunity to capitalize on new domestic and international distribution partners such as additional cable and broadcast networks, the Internet, syndication, video on demand (VOD), and pay-per-view video (PPV)
- Extensive and growing high-quality library with strong and visible cash flow
- Highly experienced management team with proven ability to produce highly rated, award-winning content for which there is strong demand
